You, as a parent, will be more effective in assuring that your child with a disability receives the most appropriate education and services when you work together with the school. It is important to remember that you have a unique understanding of your child because you are the parents. The heart of the special education law lies here.

It is crucial that you as the parent be an active team member in the development of the IEP or the IFSP in order to ensure that it will meet the unique needs of your child.

Children benefit the most when there is active and cooperative participation by parents and school personnel.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE IN SD INCLUDING OTHER SHELTERS

Please contact these agencies for shelter or information on what services are available to domestic violence victims. In case your area has no shelter, call your local law enforcement agency for quick assistance or referral. For more information call: South Dakota Domestic Abuse Hotline 1-800-430-SAFE

SOCIAL SECURITY

The Social Security Administration manages two different disability programs - Social Security disability insurance and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) disability. Both of these programs provide a monthly income for people with severe disabilities, but the rules that affect eligibility for them are different. Social Security disability insurance is that workers and employers pay for with their Social Security taxes. Eligibility for these disability benefits is based on your work history, and the amount of your benefit is based on your earnings. SSI benefits are paid to people who have low income and limited resources. Based on the information that you share with the Social Security representative, you may be filing for Social Security disability, SSI disability, or both. More information about programs can be found in the booklets "Disability and Supplemental Security Income". If you have any questions about these programs, or would like copies of the booklets, contact the Social Security office nearest you.

SUBSTANCE ABUSE AND RELATED TOPICS - INPATIENT AND OUTPATIENT TREATMENT

For resources & programs listed below refer to the South Dakota state website at <http://dss.sd.gov/behavioralhealthservices/ada/index.asp>

Additional resources available, which include addresses and phone numbers once you go to the webpage include the following Core Service Agencies.

A Core Service Agency is an agency designated by the Division of Alcohol & Drug Abuse, which provide core services within the agency's catchment's area.

Corrections Substance Abuse Program – The CSAP serves all individuals who are incarcerated in correctional facilities or supervised by Dept of Corrections Parole Agents or Juvenile Corrections Agents (refer <http://dhs.sd.gov/ada/>)

Day Treatment – a nonresidential program that provides clients with a minimum of 20 regularly scheduled treatment hours per week in a clearly defined, structured intensive treatment program. (refer <http://dhs.sd.gov/ada/>)

Early Intervention – a nonresidential facility that provides direct supportive client contact, indirect or collateral client contact, community information and liaison services. The program also provides formally planned counseling services to those persons harmfully affected by alcohol or drugs and who have been determined not to be in need of or accepting of structured outpatient or residential services. (refer <http://dhs.sd.gov/ada/>)

Intensive Outpatient Services Early Intervention – provides individuals a clearly defined, structured, intensive treatment program on a scheduled basis with a minimum of 9-hours of regularly scheduled treatment services per week. The program shall provide intensive informational and counseling services to a client during their course of treatment. (refer <http://dhs.sd.gov/ada/>)

Low Intensity Residential – a residential, peer-orientated program designed to aid the client's reentry into society. The program shall provide directly or by referral, individual and group counseling, assistance in securing employment, and other services as may be necessary to facilitate the individual's successful reentry into the community. (refer <http://dhs.sd.gov/ada/>)

South Dakota Prevention Network (dedicated to promoting safe & healthy families, schools and communities). Prevention programs funded by the Division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse - the objective of substance abuse prevention is to promote the personal and social growth of individuals in order to avoid alcohol, tobacco and other drug related problems. To assist in the efforts to meet this objective, South Dakota has established the following programming: Prevention resource centers, Community mobilization projects, school based prevention projects and diversion programs.
Detoxification – the clinically managed program is a short-term residential program providing for the supervised withdrawal from alcohol or drugs of persons without known serious physical or immediate psychiatric complications. The program shall furnish temporary care, information, motivational counseling, evaluation and referral and provide for the entry into the continuum of treatment services.
